

POOR RELIEF
BILL BEFORE
LEGISLATURE*Downstate Senators
Plan To Oppose
Measures

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 1.—(P)—Chicago's drive to convince downstate that $200,000,000 of state money can be appropriated for the care of the poor and unemployed of Cook county without adding a single cent to downstate tax bills was started in the general assembly tonight.

Both houses of the legislature convened today for the third special session and received a series of five bills which the Chicago emergency relief committee has said will provide enough money to prevent suffering and starvation during the rest of the winter.

Minority Leader Michael L. Igoe of Chicago introduced the bills in the house while Senator James J. Barbour (R) of Evanston, introduced them in the upper chamber. The bills were offered immediately after Governor Louis L. Emmerson's message, reminding the legislators that "the duties of the legislature are multiplied in times like these" was read.

Propponents of the bill hope that the house will pass the measures by Wednesday and that the senate will approve them by Friday. It takes at least five days to get a bill through both houses.

Republican Floor Leader Richard J. Barr of Joliet, took charge of the bills in the senate. He explained that while the measures provide for an increase of 30 cents in the state tax rate and for a state wide bond issue, that the additional tax will not be levied on collected, but that the $200,000,000 will be taken from the present gas tax.

Several downstate members, however, insisted that the bills will result in an additional tax on downstate property owners in the long run and opposed the bills. Senator Elmer A. Donahoe (R) of Ashkum introduced a bill to permit any county to issue its own bonds for poor relief, to be paid for over a period of twenty years by a direct tax on the property in the county.

Leaders in the downstate group that opposed the bills today were Senators Alvin N. M. Mason of Ogleby, and James Monroe of Collinsville. The plan has also been attacked by Senators V. P. Michel, of Peoria, and Charles Thompson, of Harrisburg. (Continued on Page Seven)

COMMERCE GROUP
HEARS ATTACKS
ON GAS RATES*Springfield and Peoria Are Fighting The New Schedules

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 1.—(P)—Council for Springfield and Peoria attacked the proposed permanent rates for natural gas in Illinois today before the commerce commission here.

Corporation Counsel Charles R. Hagan, Peoria, and City Attorney Hugh J. Dobbs, Springfield, led the attack. In the questioning of E. R. Connors, rate engineer of the Peoria-Handle Pipe Line company.

Connors had testified that the rates at which the company desires to sell natural gas to distributing companies are based on the minimum estimated demand for gas.

It was brought out that these rates would not meet the expenses of distribution but were proposed as promotional, being sufficiently low to encourage distributing companies to sell more gas in various lines of industries. This increase sale, Connors said, would benefit the domestic user.

"We expect that it will be shown," Dobbs said, "that experience in all other markets shows a many-fold increase in consumption of natural gas and that if consumption in Illinois increases to any extent in comparison with other states and that the proposed wholesale rates in Illinois will yield more than is necessary to produce a fair return to the pipe line companies."

A. A. Seiffert, treasurer of the Peoria-Handle Eastern and Illinois Pipe Line companies, was quizzed as to construction and other costs involved in bringing natural gas to Illinois.

WEATHER

For Jacksonville and vicinity: Mild temperatures with occasional rains will probably be the weather for this vicinity today, followed by mostly cloudy and colder weather tomorrow.

The Norbury Sanitarium Weather Bureau report last night showed that temperatures Monday were: high 40, current 38 and low 15. Barometer readings were: A. M. 30.67; P. M. 30.32.

Illinois and Indiana: Occasional rain with mild temperature Tuesday; Wednesday mostly cloudy, probably some rain or snow in north portions, followed by colder.

No Cause For War

Rich men in some instances are not as wise as the other day when they were in the habit of buying up the world's supply of gold. The value of the dollar is not as high as it was in 1914, and the price of gold is not as high as it was in 1914. The value of the dollar is not as high as it was in 1914, and the price of gold is not as high as it was in 1914.

But the owner of the place knew his value and his neighbors knew it. He had a valuable library of rare books and some costly art treasures which were damaged by the blaze. The owner had all the anxiety anyone else would have if his property was damaged and the home owner a man to find as the home of a less wealthy individual would mean to him.

Of course the rich man would want to have his home for after all, he is human. In fact most rich men would not work at one time and many of them still work. The average millionaire is not idle, he spends several hours a day in his office or looking after his business. He may be a man of letters and has a daughter a social butterfly, but the millionaire is not a man of letters or a social butterfly.

His home is a part of his wealth, and he would not want to see it destroyed. He would not want to see it destroyed. He would not want to see it destroyed. He would not want to see it destroyed. He would not want to see it destroyed.

There is no cause for war. The entire nation is wondering just what is going to happen; young people who were children when the world changed in its last bloody struggle are asking wisely if they are to be asked to fight. There is uncertainty in the air.

Yet there is no cause for this country becoming involved in war. We must get away from the idea that we have to fight every time a bullet hits an American oil station in a foreign land. The fact that the Japanese have downed a couple of American flags is not even a cause for war.

The act was no doubt committed by irresponsible soldiers as a piece of malicious mischief. One soldier does not make a war, and neither should one or two isolated acts of aggression represent the cause of a nation of 120 millions of people to plunge into a war that would be the most costly in money and money we could possibly have.

There is no doubt that Japan hates the United States and she also hates other nations as much. She wants to run all the western countries out of China, and there would not be much left to us if she did. There has always been a question as to the right of any nation to maintain extensive possessions in the domain of a weaker power.

However, this does not mean that American lives should be sacrificed. Our nationals in China should be protected, and if that is impossible they should be protected. It is a good thing to have plenty of military power at the scene of conflict, and for action, but it is not out of place. It is in line with the custom of neutral nations to stand by during hostilities to see that their interests are safeguarded. When the American forces captured Manila, British, German and French warships were standing by and witnessed the defeat of Spain.

The United States should in the present Oriental crisis maintain a strict neutrality, meanwhile letting both sides understand that American lives must be protected. Intervention for protection of nationals is not an act of war and is legitimate under international law.

Will Rogers says:
To the Editor of The Journal-Courier
Paris, Feb. 1.—Flying to Berlin to see the country that there has been so much talk about saving. I can't see the difference nowadays when a country has been saved and when it hasn't.

American delegation got in. On the same boat were 400 barrels of gold from home and on another boat 500 barrels. We always thought barrels were just to send apples or potatoes to. Then they talk about cancelling the debt.

Say, if we don't run out of barrels we won't have enough gold left at home to fill our front teeth.

CURTIS FUNERAL SERVICES TO BE IN ALTON TODAY

Manchester, Feb. 1.—Mrs. Charles Curtis, a former well known resident of Manchester, passed away Sunday morning, Jan. 31st at 1:30 at the home of her son, R. E. H. Curtis, at Alton, aged eighty years, seven months, and one day.

Mrs. Curtis had been in failing health for some time, but had been compelled to ride to her bed only about one week.

On Oct. 17, 1875 she was united in marriage to Charles Curtis. They made their home west of Manchester. Mr. Curtis died in September, 1930. After his death she made her home with her son, R. E. H. Curtis, where she died.

There are five children surviving, all of whom are married: Nannie Cooper, wife of Otis Cooper, of Pulbert, California; Mrs. Millie Scott, wife of Walter Scott, residing in Winchester, Mass.; Carrie Henderson, wife of W. D. Henderson, of Rockhouse; James S. Curtis of Waverly, R. E. H. Curtis of Alton; a number of grandchildren and two great grandchildren; a sister, Mrs. Strimfield of New York City.

Funeral services will be in the Baptist Church of Alton, Tuesday afternoon at 1:30, and interment at the Forest Cemetery, Rev. C. L. Lett officiating.

START TRIAL OF ALLEN FOR DEATH OF GIRL'S SUITOR

Monroeville, Pa., Feb. 1.—(AP)—Edward H. B. Allen, gentleman stepfather, confronted a different battle today—a charge of murdering Francis A. Donaldson, third, his daughter's suitor.

The last minute—the trial was called for this morning—Stewart Nasse, conducting the first prosecution as district attorney, said he would ask for no specific penalty.

"I will ask," he said, "that whatever penalty is warranted under the law and the facts of the case be imposed on the defendant."

The slaying was the climax of a long-standing difference between the Allen family and Donaldson.

Here Allen, the father, had said Donaldson was a bad boy, and that he should be kept out of the house. Donaldson, however, the father, had said Donaldson was a bad boy, and that he should be kept out of the house.

Grace Church Notes

The colder weather interfered with the school attendance. Harry Stone was present at the session of the Sunday school and in his usual pleasing voice delighted the school with his singing. School attendance was 439. Mrs. Manan Glasse Schaefer of the Junior officers will take up the leadership of the school for the four Sundays in February.

At the morning service Dr. Havighurst presented a carefully prepared sermon that provoked much thought, using as a theme "Earthly Immortality."

The Epworth League met at 6:30. Miss Martha Margaret Jones was the leader of the Young People's group while David McClelland was the high school group leader.

Mrs. Manan Glasse Schaefer of the School of Expression of MacMurray College delighted the large audience at the evening service with her artistic reading of "Timothy Quets," by Kate Douglas Wiggin. The Men's chorus assisted in the evening services in a very acceptable manner.

Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society will meet with Mrs. R. A. Gates, 1036 W. Lafayette avenue.

Church night will be held as usual on Wednesday evening beginning with the social hour at six o'clock followed by the supper period the study hour by Dr. McClelland and the recreation period under the direction this week of Mrs. J. E. Martin. Make supper reservations by calling the Sperry home 596X by Tuesday night.

Oak Hill

Community wood choppings seem to be the main item at this writing. Four of the men who could not be present at the wood chopping for J. T. Osborne last Tuesday, came on Friday afternoon and chopped wood for Mr. Osborne. They were: Wm. Walker, son Clifford, Ed Wild and Charlie West.

Daniel Burke, son James, George Rathbun and son Claude, Ed Brown, C. Hart, J. L. Thady, Joseph Ozbun, Mr. Armitage, Bill Dowling, all gathered at the home of Charlie Dolan Thursday of last week and chopped wood for him. Those who helped Mrs. Dolan with the dinner were: Mrs. Ed Brown, daughter Miss Nancy, Mrs. J. T. Osborne, daughter Miss Ada, and Mrs. Daniel Burke. Little Junior Brown was also present.

Harry Spring, Carson Brackett, J. T. Osborne, and Francis Finch helped Harry saw wood last Thursday. Wm. Walker sold his hogs to Albert Hayes who came after them in his truck one day last week.

Wm. H. Osborne, son James, of Wynona, Prairie and Francis Finch spent Sunday at the home of the Osbornes' parents, J. T. Osborne, wife and daughter. Bill Dowling was a Sunday evening caller at the same home.

Lloyd Collins and family returned to their home near Modesto one day for the Sunday School Union. Later he secured the Baptist pastor at Girard, and then went to Springfield, and from there to Taylorville. Rev. Mr. Hastings has been instrumental in building up several Baptist churches over the state and has held numerous revival meetings.

Charlie Dolan delivered hogs Saturday night. George Rathbun butchered a beef one day last week. Francis Finch made a trip to St. Louis recently.

INJURIES LEAD TO DEATH OF WOMAN
An aged woman whose wrists were broken when she was admitted to the Jacksonville State hospital five days ago, died there Sunday night after she sustained even more serious injuries. She was Mrs. Margaret Davis of Springfield, 72 years old.

Less than a week ago the aged woman fell in the basement at her home in Springfield, fracturing both wrists. Her mental condition was so bad that she was removed to the local institution. On Friday she suffered a fall at the hospital, breaking her right hip.

Coroner C. S. Young conducted an inquest at the hospital Sunday. The inquest at the hospital last night. The jury found that death was caused by general arterio sclerosis, the contributing cause being a fracture of the right hip received in an accidental fall. The jury consisted of W. F. Arenz, foreman; D. E. Neal, Patrick Donovan, J. T. Ring, C. E. Myers and J. N. Dunavan, clerk.

The decedent was the wife of Isaac Davis of Springfield.

I am a candidate for the nomination of County Commissioner on the Republican ticket.—S. Lloyd Magill.

EVANGELISTIC MEETINGS TO BE HELD FEB. 24

Plans for evangelistic meetings to begin Wednesday, Feb. 24, were announced Sunday morning by Rev. T. C. Harley Marsh, pastor of First Baptist church, Rev. Jesse R. Hastings, formerly of this city and now pastor of the Taylorville Baptist church, will come Sunday, Feb. 27, to assist the pastor for two weeks in protracted revival services.

The Wednesday service which will open the series will consist of an afternoon and evening session, with a supper for the church membership. Dr. A. E. Peterson of Chicago, superintendent of the Baptist State Convention, and Dr. Bruce Kinney of Denver, Colo., will be here for the Wednesday meetings. They will deliver special addresses.

Thursday and Friday evening of that week Rev. Dr. Marsh will preach. On Sunday Rev. Mr. Hastings will arrive to begin the evangelistic services. He was formerly a resident of this city, where he served as a worker for the Sunday School Union. Later he secured the Baptist pastorate at Girard, and then went to Springfield, and from there to Taylorville. Rev. Mr. Hastings has been instrumental in building up several Baptist churches over the state and has held numerous revival meetings.

ORGANIZE RURAL MAIL CARRIERS IN MEETING HERE

An organization of rural mail carriers of the Twentieth Congressional district was effected here Sunday afternoon when 125 carriers from all 10 counties of the district gathered at the Farm Bureau headquarters. The district group will work in harmony with the state and national organizations, being particularly interested in the proposed change of rules on retirement.

O. E. Henry of Winchester was elected president of the district association, with Benjamin Roland of Pittsfield as secretary.

Herman Ellis and Eugene Keefe were the Jacksonville rural carriers at the meeting.

POLICE FIND MAN WHO WOOLING BY CONTRACT

Chicago, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Apparently, say the police, George Kiefer, 22, of Chilton Wis., does his wooling by contract.

Found wandering blindfolded and bound, last night, he told a story of kidnapping. In a pocket police found an agreement pledging him to be a constant admirer of Miss Irma Moreen of New Holstein, Wis. He was to see her twice a week, drink nothing stronger than beer and, if he broke the pact, was not to see her again.

Wednesday, he said, men he thought were bootleggers abducted him from his filling station at Chilton without saying why, probably, he explained, because they believed he had informed the government of their activities.

Dissatisfied, police began an investigation.

ORGANIZE RURAL MAIL CARRIERS IN MEETING HERE

An organization of rural mail carriers of the Twentieth Congressional district was effected here Sunday afternoon when 125 carriers from all 10 counties of the district gathered at the Farm Bureau headquarters. The district group will work in harmony with the state and national organizations, being particularly interested in the proposed change of rules on retirement.

O. E. Henry of Winchester was elected president of the district association, with Benjamin Roland of Pittsfield as secretary.

Herman Ellis and Eugene Keefe were the Jacksonville rural carriers at the meeting.

Under the present laws rural carriers must have had 30 years' service and reach the age of 63 years before they are eligible for retirement. A movement now is under way to revise the regulations so that a carrier may become eligible for retirement after 30 years of service, regardless of what his age may be.

Should this regulation be adopted there are a number of rural carriers in this district who are not yet 63 years of age, but who would be permitted to retire on pension if they wished.

Several matters that came before the national meeting of rural carriers at Los Angeles last August were discussed at the district meeting. Another meeting of the district carriers is expected to be held previous to the state meeting.

The Sunday gathering of carriers was conducted on the second floor of the Farm Bureau headquarters.

MOTIVELESS MURDER
Chicago, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Another apparently motiveless murder—the fourth since January 1—puzzled police today.

The fourth victim, Earl Davis, 22, like the others, was beaten to death with a hammer yesterday in the garage where he was watchman.

The garage is two blocks from the office of Dr. James Shaffer, dentist, beaten to death Jan. 2, while working a crossword puzzle. The previous victims were Charles Pangel, killed in a hotel, and Charles Tyrrell, slain in a rooming house.

RESCUE RUSHVILLE INVALID FROM FIRE

Rushville, Feb. 1.—John Sommers, a helpless invalid, was saved from death by fire Sunday morning by Charles Clayton, a neighbor who carried him from the burning Sommers home, five miles west of here.

Mrs. Sommers started a fire in the kitchen stove and left the house to do the farm chores. From his home a quarter of a mile distant Clayton noticed the roof of the Sommers residence in flames. He arrived in time to carry the man who was unable to walk, to safety in a chair. Sommers' hair was singed.

The Sommers home and all its contents were destroyed.

DENIED NEW TRIAL
Pana, Ill., Feb. 1.—(AP)—Charles F. Lee, former treasurer of the Herrick school district, was denied a new trial by Judge Franklin R. Dove of Shelby County Circuit Court Saturday in his conviction of embezzling $8,000.79 of the district's funds. A plea for arrest of judgment pending sentence also was overruled, but an appeal to the supreme court was granted and bond fixed at $5,000 on which Lee is at liberty.

DISTURBANCES IN CHINA DESCRIBED BY MISSIONARIES

First hand information on the Chinese Japan-se situation as it must be faced in China today has reached Jacksonville residents through some highly interesting letters written by Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Christian, missionaries from this country. Mr. and Mrs. Christian work under the auspices of the American Board of Congregational Foreign Missionary society and the local Congregational church has for a number of years contributed to their support.

Rev. Wayne L. Waters and members of the church have recently received several letters from Mr. and Mrs. Christian in which references to Japanese disturbances are particularly pertinent at the present time. They are stationed at Foochow, China. In one is a quotation from Mr. Christian's diary which contains the following comments:

"...Still more excitement—on Saturday afternoon the Japanese consul in company with two lieutenants from the Japanese gunboat went into the city to visit West Gate Park. While passing down the street they saw some anti-Japanese posters and the lieutenants started to tear them down. They were set upon by the students and others who hurled stones at them and they escaped only by the help of their auto. They drove to the head police station and by waiting there till the crowd thinned they were able to get back to South Side.

"On Sunday night a Japanese school teacher and his wife were killed in the Japanese club. Just how it all happened is not known. The Japanese blame it on the Chinese and the Chinese disclaim having anything to do with it. One group claims the woman died while attending the club and her husband killed himself. As a result of these two 'serious affairs' 100 Japanese marines were landed on South Side today. And the Board of Education has ordered the immediate closing of all schools in the city and on Nauti Island. This is quite enough to put in the diary for one day!"

"It surprises us when we stop to think about it, that we can carry on so nearly as normal in these days of constant tension and every sort of political disturbance. Last week our entire Dionghon station was ordered out by the consul because of a local war between a 'farmers' army' and a detachment of the navy. We hear that they have come to an agreement now...."

In a letter from Mrs. Christian the following phrases further indicate the attitude which exists in China: "The present nation-wide boycott of all Japanese goods is very strict... China is in such a ferment over her political upheaval as well as the Manchurian crisis that even a trivial matter may cause great agitation."

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs. Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchitis, asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

FIREMEN OUT 4 TIMES—TWO ROOF BLAZES NIPPED

Jacksonville firemen were called out four times during the week end, and in two instances saved homes from bad damage or destruction. The other two alarms consisted of a fire fire and an automobile.

At 10:15 o'clock Sunday morning the department nipped a brush fire on the roof of Charles Wright's home, 337 North East street, which started from chimney sparks. A chemical outfit was used to put out the fire which burned a large hole in the roof. The home of Carl Stutz, 724 East College avenue, was the destination of a run at 4:30 p. m. Sunday where a fire was burning out.

Monday morning at 7:19 an alarm was turned in from the home of Frank Matthews, 732 Bedford St. The roof was slightly damaged before Mr. Matthews climbed to the fire and put it out. The department pulled up a few minutes later.

A car owned by Jesse Hawkins caught fire Saturday evening in the 300 block on Brown street and was slightly damaged before the firemen arrived.

settlement were followed by a statement from the Tokyo foreign office that there was no reason for any change in the Japanese policy.

The high command in Tokyo recommended to the cabinet that a full army division be sent immediately to the Shanghai area.

In London Prime Minister MacDonald conferred with the foreign secretary and the war minister in preparation for a statement of the British position on the Sino-Japanese conflict when parliament meets today.

The League of Nations at Geneva received with satisfaction assurances that the United States would allow one of its representatives in Shanghai to cooperate with the league council's commission of inquiry there.

While ships of the United Asiatic fleet sped toward Shanghai from the Philippines the 51st United States infantry sailed from Manila in their wake.

In Washington Japanese Ambassador DeBuchi said Japan was extremely anxious about the Shanghai situation and was eager to see it quieted by negotiations.

The neutral international commission formed to investigate the Manchurian dispute, forerunner of the Shanghai trouble, under League of Nations auspices, decided to leave France tomorrow for New York on its way to the Far East.

Japanese military leaders were reported to have delivered ultimatum demands to the Chinese authorities at Tientsin, Coo and Tientsin demanding an end to anti-Japanese agitation.

It was a similar demand that led to the Japanese occupation of Shanghai.

Chinese newspapers said about 150 Chinese prisoners had been executed by the Japanese at Shanghai on accusations of spying.

By Morris J. Harris
Associated Press Staff Correspondent
(Copyright, 1932 Associated Press)
Shanghai, Feb. 2.—(Tuesday)—

Groups of Chinese with fear and hatred written on their faces watched Japanese sentries in yellow shen in the streets of the Hongkew section today.

There were other evidences that the district had been transformed from a peaceful quarter to an area where life could not be guaranteed as I went through it.

Smash Windows
Plate glass windows in the showroom of the Shanghai Power company, an American corporation, were smashed by bullets, shattering the floor. On the ground I saw a splash of blood and wondered whether the victim had been shot in the Chinese sniper or a Japanese machine.

On North Szechuen road two wires hung down from a street car trolley line, threatening death to any unwary person.

The appearance of Shanghai women was striking to me as the small crowd of Chinese who watched from a respectful distance. I saw two women in a red dress and a blue dress, apparently getting a thrill, while two other well dressed and bejeweled women, in an expensive limousine driven by a Russian chauffeur, also were taking in the sights.

No Man's Land
This was in North Szechuen road, but by common consent there was a sort of no man's land dividing the Japanese sentries and the Chinese. I turned into Boone road, on which the Japanese club stands and walked along it. The entrance to many alleys was barred with a formidable network of barbed wire. Japanese civilians, wearing armbands and carrying staves, were making a house-to-house search, apparently for Chinese hoodlums.

One Chinese, who had been taken prisoner, was being led to the Japanese club with his hands tied behind his back.

At some street intersections Boy Scouts were directing traffic. Japanese marines, ready to dive behind sandbag barricades, stood with bayonets fixed, challenged passing Chinese and occasionally searched them.

I heard almost continual sniping. There was a nest somewhere about a party of Japanese marines, carrying a machine gun and a box of ammunition, were making ready to go into action.

They turned into a side street where I could not see them, but in a minute or two I heard an ominous rat-tat-tat, two shots landed within 25 yards of where I stood and I thought it prudent to leave.

I went back into North Szechuen road and walked to the area guarded by settlement police. On my way I saw a cart carrying an entire Chinese family. A baby, held in the mother's arms, dropped a toy to the ground. The child started to howl. It was indignation and so were its parents, for behind in Chapel their home and all their possessions had been burned to the ground.

Operator Cut Her off, Woman Wants $25,000 Damages

Chicago, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Mrs. Jane Bacon today sued the Illinois Bell Telephone company for $25,000 damages because, she said, she was made permanently deaf when an operator cut her off.

Mrs. Bacon said she was telephoning from a pay station when the operator informed her that her five minutes were up.

"The next thing I knew, I awoke on the floor," she said. "The operator had set up a terrible buzzing in my ear and I have lost hearing in it. I was knocked unconscious by the vibration on my eardrum."

DISARMAMENT PARLEY WILL OPEN TODAY

by defined points of conflict and, alternatively, a few hopeful rays.

One group of belauding factors involve the traditional French, German and comparatively young but nevertheless well-developed Russian policies.

The long recognized staunchness of French demands for security have led to a strongly supported clause that France is the chief obstacle to success of this February conference.

France, on the other hand, insists that her compulsory military service has been reduced from three years to one.

Her overseas army has been cut by almost 75,000 men.

Her air force construction program has been retarded.

And that she will go as far as any nation toward pledges against a mutual aggressor for international security.

But Germany, marshals against this a foreign policy of determination to free herself of Versailles treaty bonds and submits these figures:

Land forces, France 576,000; Germany 109,500.
Naval strength, France 628,000 tons; Germany 128,750 tons.

Air forces, France 2,375 military planes; Germany none.

Russia enters this confusing picture with a broader scheme than any other nation for disarmament, but less a disposition of several great powers to demand Soviet sincerity.

The Russian plan, supported by the Turkish delegation and broadly by the Germans, is tersely:

An original plan for complete, immediate disarmament for all, modified to a scheme "for partial and gradual reduction." The preparatory committee turned its back on this plan, which also contemplates:

(1) proportional reduction; and (2) a numerical coefficient for the general arms cap fixed in the draft convention of the conference.

Although these conflicting factors are but one aspect and do not even touch upon the Franco-Italian naval impasse and discredited entirely the British and American general policies, they are illustrative of the labyrinth of difficulties ahead of the arms delegates.

Those who have fears, sum them up thus:

The specter of "French security," the enigma of Russia, the Sino-Japanese crisis, the "apparent passivity" of the United States.

Those who have hopes, make these premises:

That there is a possibility of continuing the conference for many months past present conditions and even a prospect of jockeying into an agreeable armistice.

And that there is an opportunity to extend the present one-year armistice to two or more years, which it extended to five years would automatically reduce all navies by the number of vessels which become obsolete and go off the registers.

MRS. ELLA CURTIS OF SCOTT COUNTY CALLED BY DEATH

Winchester, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Mrs. Ella Curtis, 80, well known resident of Scott county, died at the home of her son, Roy Curtis, at Alsey, at 7 o'clock Sunday morning.

Decedent is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Walter Scott, Winchester; Mrs. William Henderson of Rodhouse; and Mrs. Otis Cooper, Fullerton, Cal.; two sons, James Curtis of Waverly, and Roy Curtis of Alsey.

Funeral services will be held in Alsey Baptist church at 1:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Rev. Charles Lettze will officiate. Interment will be made in Bowers cemetery.

GUNS BARK NEAR THE COLOMBIAN BORDER

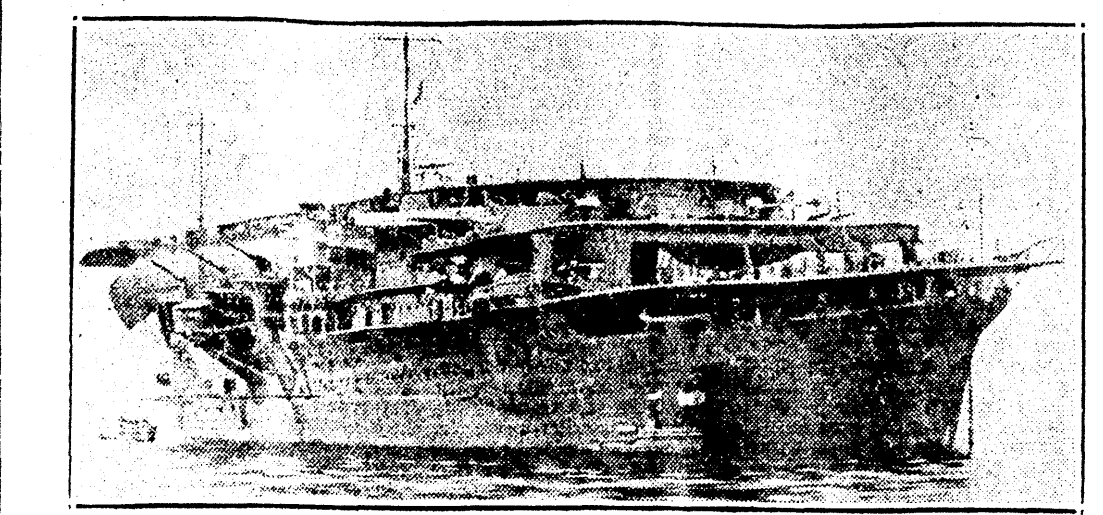

Guayaquil, Ecuador, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Guns barked up in Tulcan near the Colombian border today and a cliche of rebel officers at the army garrison proclaimed a revolution.

They harangued a crowd of civilians, won them over and led them into the barracks where they took the loyal officers captive and locked them up.

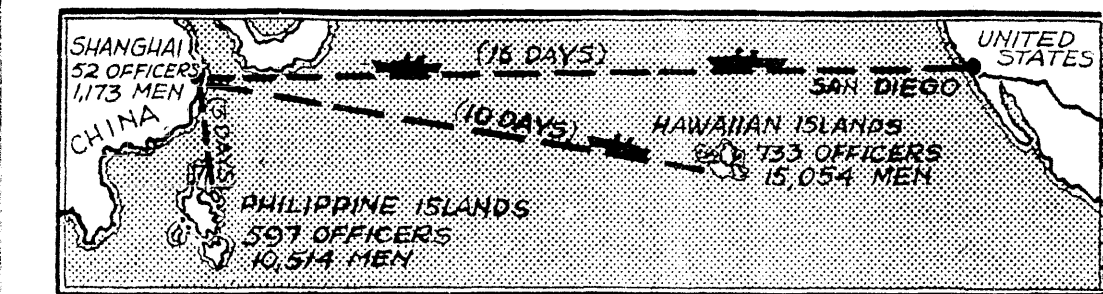

There was some fighting in the streets, but it was brief and as soon as word reached Quito a detachment of troops was sent over. The government here called the whole thing unimportant.

Nevertheless they sent an airplane up and the pilot reported when he returned that Tulcan looked quiet, with no one in the streets but a few women and children who waved at him. The rebels, he said, apparently had retreated to the hills.

"NEST" FOR JAPANESE WAR BIRDS

It was from the deck of the aircraft carrier Kaga, shown, that Japanese fighting planes took off to roar over Shanghai during the air and land bombardment of the Chapei district of the city. Now anchored in the Whangpoo river, the vessel has a capacity for 60 planes.

This sketch shows the present American naval strength in the Pacific.

POOR RELIEF BILL BEFORE LEGISLATURE

Senator Barr explained that under the bill, the state tax rate would be increased about 30 cents and that anticipation warrants would then be issued against this increase.

The anti-anticipation warrants could then be required from the proceeds of a state bond issue, to be voted upon at the November election.

If the bond issue is approved the increase in the state tax rate would not be necessary. Confident that the bond issue will be approved, the proponents of the plan submitted a fourth bill to amend the gas tax law so that the counties may use their share of the gas tax to pay off the bonds.

The fifth bill of the series creates a state emergency relief commission of seven persons to be named by the governor to administer the $20,000,000 appropriation.

In opposing the plan, Senator Meents argued that Chicago can take care of its poor and unemployed without resorting to an increase in the state tax rate or a state wide bond issue.

"You have just raised $400,000 for the civic opera, $300,000 for political conventions and are spending millions on the world fair," Meents said. "It ought not be hard to get money for the poor."

Senator Harold Ward (D) of Chicago said that Cook county would be willing to vote for the Meents bill permitting counties to issue their own bonds for poor relief but that "the county can't find a market for county bonds because the people haven't paid their taxes."

Both houses sent the bills to second reading without reference to committee and will take up further debate on them tomorrow.

The first special session also will be reconvened tomorrow, after a ten day recess. The first action before the house is a vote on the proposed state income tax. The second special session probably will be adjourned and die this week inasmuch as all the items before the second session were included in the call for the third.

BANKER DIES

Rock Island, Ill., Feb. 1.—(AP)—Hugh E. Curtis, Sr., 62, president of the Rock Island Bank and Trust Co., and a civic leader, died early today of heart attack. He had been ill of influenza.

Took Money From Pauper Fund To Buy Pastor Coat

Carbondale, Ill., Feb. 1.—(AP)—Mort Stafford, former chairman of the county board, who pleaded guilty of using $20 from the county pauper fund to buy a suit of clothes for a Carbondale minister, today was fined $150 for malfeasance in office while serving as supervisor from Carbondale township.

The Rev. W. D. Simmons, who received the suit of clothes from Stafford, said he thought it was a personal gift from the official and did not know it was purchased with public money.

NEIL MONTAGUE, AL CAPONE MAN, ESCAPES JAIL

Casey was in custody as a witness but Mrs. Montague was not. A vice search for the missing prisoner, being held without bond as a member of a midwest kidnaping ring, was underway. Federal agents joined the search when it was learned a warrant had been issued for his arrest under the Dyer automobile act.

The brother, his hair dyed red like Neil's, continued alternately to deny complicity in the escape and to name reasons for compliance in it. He mentioned "threats from the gang," and denied he was "getting anything out of it."

Casey said he often obtained visitors' passes as political favors, that he had known the Montague brothers for several years. He denied obtaining the pass the second time.

Under Illinois law the evidence against Neil Montague may be used against his brother and he may be sentenced, if convicted, to life imprisonment or anything less for aiding in the escape. Neil's punishment, if convicted for kidnaping for ransom, might be electrocution.

FATALLY INJURED

Kewanee, Ill., Feb. 1.—(AP)—George Huff of Atkinson, Ill., was fatally injured in a head-on automobile crash between Kewanee and Annawan Sunday. Harvey Huff is confined to the hospital with serious scalp wounds.

Six others were slightly injured. The second automobile was driven by August Egert of Annawan.

AMERICANS MAY SOON EVACUATE CHINA, CLAIM

Mr. DeBuchi said he had no information from his government about the bombardment of Nanking by a Japanese warship which was reported to the state department today.

"I am hopeful that the strained situation will be relieved by the intervention of the United States, France and Great Britain suggested by our minister of foreign affairs," Mr. DeBuchi continued.

"It is difficult naturally to negotiate with China as there have been many changes in the Nanking government and its officials are reported to be scattered. But I am optimistic and believe a settlement of the trouble will be worked out."

He reiterated that Japan does not desire to send army reinforcements to Shanghai to support its sailors unless forced to do so by new developments.

CLAIM STOCK TAXES WILL BE LARGER

Chicago, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Assessor John E. Conroy estimated today that Cook county would collect approximately $3,000,000 more from capital stock assessments in 1931 than in previous years because of a new form of schedule.

Collections will be about 43 per cent greater, he said.

GREAT BRITAIN AND U. S. SEND NEW PROTESTS

international settlement by Japan as a base for operations against the Chinese were followed today by a statement from the foreign office that there was no reason for any change in the Japanese policy.

The ministers of war, navy and foreign affairs recommended to the cabinet that a full army division be dispatched immediately to the Shanghai area.

These troops, it was said, would replace the 5,000 Japanese bluejackets now at Shanghai. Final decision about whether they would be sent rested with the cabinet.

A foreign office spokesman, commenting on the American, British and French protests, said "Japan is determined to show China that she will stand for no nonsense."

The Tokyo government, he explained, does not consider its cause unworthy, and therefore has no guilty conscience. He declared the government of China to be corrupt and said Japan was willing to do her share to thwart "the greedy war lords who are responsible for a large share of China's troubles."

Government officials announced that the full strength of the Japanese army in Manchuria would be directed against Harbin despite the fact that Soviet Russia has indicated it might protest if Japanese troops entered that city.

Replying to protests of Secretary of State Stimson as called by Ambassador DeBuchi, a spokesman for the foreign office said that in the bombardment of the Chapel section of Shanghai bombs were aimed at buildings where Chinese soldiers were known to be billeted and were not meant for women and children.

Some non-combatants may have suffered despite every effort to avoid civilian casualties, he admitted, but this often could not be helped, especially where Chinese soldiers might take refuge under protection of the citizenry.

The Japanese newspaper Hochi Shimbun said army and navy circles had been aroused by Foreign Minister Yoshizawa's request to the American, British and French ambassadors to persuade the Chinese to withdraw from Shanghai.

"If the withdrawal of Chinese troops is necessary," the paper expressed this clique as saying in substance, "Japan herself can bring this about by her own naval forces. If our navy is not sufficient we can send enough troops. Yoshizawa's request only invites the three powers' intervention. If the request were fulfilled it would make China worse."

LABOR AGREES TO WAGE CUTS FOR RAIL MEN

$215,000,000 Cut from Pay of Railroaders for One Year

Chicago, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Railway labor from section hand to engineer, take a 10 per cent wage cut today, with the hope it will give work to its jobs and speed the return of better times.

The agreement which authorized the nation's railroads to take $215,000,000 out of the pay envelopes of the workers for one year was signed last night. It was a voluntary concession on the part of labor at the request of the carriers. Had the workers chosen they could have forced the carriers to take a demand before a board of arbitration, with months of delay. Their pay is protected by contract.

In return, the workers have certain concessions. A compromise program, chief among them being the assurance the roads would do as much as conditions justify to use the savings toward relieving the distress of 700,000 jobless and 600,000 partly employed.

The final scene, enacted in the conference room of a hotel here, climaxed 17 days of negotiations without precedent.

As labor made the decision known, its chief, David Be. W. Robertson, gave emphasis to the reason for the concession:

"In the hope that our action," he said, "may improve the health of our industry, may improve the relations of management and employees, may stimulate a revival of business, and may advance the general welfare, we have decided to accept the proposal."

Daniel Willard, veteran arbitrator, president of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad and head of the roads negotiating committee, replied:

"With your wage reduction, we hope that the result of this conference may tend to improve relations between railway management and employees, and also tend to stimulate the revival of business and promote the general welfare."

Late Bulletins From War Zone

Shanghai, Feb. 2.—(AP)—Tuesday—Chinese military officials, in a statement issued today said their soldiers would not enter the foreign areas south of Shoochow Creek, but would confine their activities to the Chapei and Hongkew sectors. They said the number of Chinese troops now here was 15,000.

Shanghai, Feb. 2.—(AP)—Tuesday—Japanese naval authorities here preferred today to the foreign office of the Chinese National government that Chinese troops had fired on Japanese marines. It was widely believed further drastic action was imminent.

Shanghai, Feb. 2.—(AP)—Tuesday—Several disorders—including a burst of machine gun bullets fired by a Japanese destroyer on an American-owned oil plant and the rapping down of a United States flag from an American mission school—were followed today by said threat of a new battle between massed forces of China and Japan.

Rear Admiral Shiozawa, Japanese commander-in-chief, declared, "The Chinese had broken 'the truce.' He said he would be forced to protect his fleet."

The Japanese concentrated in the Hongkew sector of the international settlement. They barred foreigners from the area and landed additional fighting men.

Nearly 5,000 Japanese were ready to attack today. Some 50,000 Chinese were gathering to attack them.

Spontaneous firing between Chinese and Japanese machine gunners broke out again this morning after a night of comparative quiet under martial law, but later ceased.

Nanking, Feb. 2.—(AP)—Tuesday—Japanese troops here today and concentrated at the Japanese wharf.

Chinese inhabitants of Hakaiwan, native sector, poured into the walled city at dawn in a wild scramble, fearing a renewal of the Japanese bombardment.

Japanese warships threw several shells inside the city walls last night, killing one Chinese policeman.

TALK CORN, SWINE AT F. A. A. MEETING

The regular monthly meeting of the F. A. A. club of the local high school was held last evening at the Jefferson school building at 7:15 o'clock with thirty-one members present. Austin Patterson, honorary member, was present for the session.

"My Corn Project" was the subject on which Wayne Spencer talked, and a trip to Springfield was discussed by LeRoy Jackson, and "My Swine Project" was the subject which Herschel Henton discussed before the group.

It was announced that the annual show will be held on the first Monday in March at the monthly meeting of the club. Clyde Patterson has won the cup for the past two years. Any boy who wins the cup three times in succession becomes permanent possessor of the cup.

During the business period, the members voted to name the club the "Jacksonville Chapter of the F. A. A."

At the conclusion of the business period, the meeting was adjourned and basketball practice was enjoyed during the remainder of the evening.

CONVICT SURRENDERS

Merrill, Wis., Feb. 1.—(AP)—Edwin Seeger, 26, a convicted slayer who escaped last Tuesday from a prison farm at Hancock, Wis., surrendered Saturday to farm authorities. Chief of Police Hugo Hanig was notified today.

Despite an extensive search for him, Seeger spent his four days of liberty in the vicinity of Hancock, he said.

Seeger, who was sentenced to 20 years in prison in 1923 for slaying a night watchman in a robbery here, said he decided to return because he had only a year more to serve before becoming eligible for parole.

RECONSTRUCTION CORPORATION IS READY TO WORK

Directors Are Confirmed and Will Take Oath of Office Today

Washington, Feb. 1.—(AP)—The reconstruction finance corporation was ready tonight to go to the aid of American business and agriculture with the commissions of its directors formally signed by President Hoover.

To meet demands for speed, the senate today waived its rules and sent to the white house two days early the confirmations of Charles C. Dawes, as president, and Harry C. Cough, and Jesse Jones, as directors.

Mr. Hoover promptly signed the commissions and tomorrow they can do business legally after taking oath. The commission already has its $300,000,000 of capital stock from the treasury.

The nomination of Wilson McCarthy of Utah, to be the other director, was submitted to the senate by the president and he will be confirmed by Wednesday, completing the make-up of the gigantic relief organization.

Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, asked the senate to waive the rule requiring that confirmation nominations wait three legislative days before going to the white house. His request met no objection or discussion.

Senate leaders turned to the next problem—legislation for the relief of depositors of closed banks and for liberalization of the federal reserve discount rules.

Senator Glass, (D. Va.), whose banking revision measure is the basis for this contemplated legislation, went before the senate today to warn that some bankers are "propagandizing against the bill."

Glass and Senator Walcott, (R. Conn.), are now conferring with experts for the treasury and federal reserve on the final form of the legislation and they hope to get the bill before the senate by the end of the week.

MEREDOSIA VETS COMPLETE LOG CUTTING FOR CABIN

Meredosia, Feb. 1.—The Legion members here have now finished cutting the logs for their Log Cabin, about 130 logs have been moved to town and the remainder will be hauled within the next few days, where a saw mill is in readiness for sawing the lumber. C. O. Summers and son now have the frames made for the windows.

The boys have some beautiful walnut logs which they will take the time to make the mantle above the fireplace as well as other shelves in the room. The logs that have been cut and are still lying in the woods where the underbrush has been cleared away makes quite a picturesque view as there is a large number of them.

Governor Emmerson's Message

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 1.—(AP)—Citing "the deplorable condition of unemployment in Cook county," Governor Louis L. Emmerson tonight, in his message to the third special session of the general assembly, told legislators it is "the state's duty to care for the many citizens who, through no fault of their own, need food, shelter and clothing."

The governor's message was as follows:

"Exercising the powers vested in me by the constitution of the state of Illinois, I have convened the general assembly in this, the third special session since the adjournment of the last regular session. A most urgent situation makes this necessary. In Chicago and Cook county today are hundreds of thousands of persons who are destitute, lacking the bare necessities to preserve life, for whom there is no employment, and no means of helping themselves."

"A civilized people cares for its members in distress. In a few days the resources of voluntary subscription and the ordinary local governmental aid in Cook county and Chicago will be exhausted. The situation is further complicated by the failure to collect taxes in Cook county which has bankrupted the municipal treasuries and even interfered with the functions of state government. The problem must be met. We must care for the many of our citizens who, through no fault of their own, need food and shelter and clothing. As governor of the state of Illinois it is my duty to call to your attention this deplorable situation. The constitution vests in you, the legislative body of the state, the power to enact appropriate legislation to meet this condition."

"The proclamations convening the general assembly in the first and second extraordinary session were, perhaps, not sufficiently inclusive to permit the legislation now imperative to relieve this situation. But the work of the second special session necessarily is little advanced. By including those subjects in this proclamation, it will be possible to adjourn this session sine die and transmit the business of that session under the thirty proclamation. One or two other matters of some degree of urgency have been included in this proclamation for your consideration and such action as is deemed desirable."

"You have no easy task. The difficulties of government are multiplied in times like these. The solution is largely in your hands and I am hopeful that you will by application and study, be able to devise means to help in meeting these difficulties and carrying our people through to happier times."

THREE KINDS OF LOVE

BY KAY CLEAVER STRAHAN

© 1931, by Doubleday, Doran and Co.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

ANN and Cecily Fenwick have for years supported themselves by their own efforts. MARY-FRANCES, and their grandmothers, known as "ROSALIE" and "GRANDMA," because of this financial responsibility, Ann, who is 25, is unable to marry WILL ECKFORD, to whom she has been engaged for eight years. Cecily, 22, loves BARRY McEEL, but when he proposes she refuses to name their wedding date for the same reason.

Mary-Frances, 15, and still in school, believes herself in love with EARL DE ARMOUNT, a handsome actor whom she has met without the knowledge of her sisters. He urges her to leave home and become his stage partner.

Ann and Phil quarrel when she hears LEXY KING, who works in Phil's office building, address him with endearments. Ann tries to forget Phil by going about with KENNETH SMITH, rich and athletic, but when Smith asks her to marry him she refuses.

Mary-Frances agrees to go away with Earl De Armont, but when she is in his car. The same day Cecily quarrels with her grandfather, and he tells her to go to her room and think about it.

Ann and Barry are to be married that evening. Ann discovers Mary-Frances is missing, learns she has eloped with De Armont. Immediately a search is begun. Phil begs Ann to renew their engagement but she refuses.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XLVII

AFTER the parlor door had slid back, Cecily had clicked the lights on, and all the fat little cherubs on the ceiling, twining blue ribbons and red roses about through soap-suds clouds, smirked; and Barry looked the dark, dusty folds of curtain, and they fell again into straight lines behind Cecily and him.

"Well," she said, "last act. Curtain drops. Here we are taking our call—but there isn't any applause."

"Don't make fun, Cecily, please. I'm not making fun."

"I know."

"Barry—you do understand? Leaving Ann was impossible enough before—especially after this with Mary-Frances. But now that Phil has come back I can't do it. They have waited eight years. She was so good today. So happy and unselfish. If Ann could manage without me and allow me to marry, then I must manage without her. It isn't self-sacrifice. It is simply being decent. You understand?"

"I am afraid I have to."

"But, perhaps," Barry said, after several silent minutes, "we are making tragedy where there isn't any—or out of a comedy. After all, simply because things have gone wrong this once is no reason for this finality—this despair. I think it is merely the let-down for us after our fight about Mary-Frances."

"Perhaps."

"Darling—let's be sensible. We're just the same persons that we were this afternoon, up in the hills. We love the same way. We aren't frightened—just because our plans didn't work out this evening. Are we?"

"No."

"What is it, dear? We've been frightened—horribly. Well, that's over with. Just now we are both sort of unarmored with disappointment. But that will pass, too; and be over with."

"Surely it will. And then we can begin making other plans."

"No."

"Darling—you're getting into a habit. Can't you say, 'Yes,' once or twice, for a change?"

"Yes. We could begin to plan and to wait. We could. But you haven't lived here and watched Ann and Phil as I have for years."

"I would allow you to do it to me. And there is your writing. I remember what you said about that today—how the uncertainty affected it."

"Perhaps I was trying to bluff you, sweet."

"No, you weren't."

"No, I wasn't. But if we were engaged, I needn't be uncertain. Let's put romance aside and be practically and conventionally engaged, for a short time at least, and—"

"And then what?"

"What do you mean, 'And then what?'"

"After we've been engaged for a short time, properly and conventionally, then what shall we do? We won't be able to be properly and conventionally married, you know."

"Of course we shall. Well plan. We'll shape circumstances instead of allowing them to shape us. Cecily, for the love of Pete—think of it! You don't expect me to go out of that front door of yours tonight and never see you again! You don't expect that. You don't want it. You can't. I'm emerging from the fog we were both in a while ago. What was the matter with us, anyway? We love each other like the devil and all. Just because we missed a date with a minister to-night, are we wicked? We are not."

"I feel as if we were."

"We aren't. You're tired—bless your heart—you're tired to death. You need to go to bed, and I'm going to leave and give you a chance to sleep and rest. I'll have to buzz to Albany tomorrow. But I'll drive down Saturday, and we'll have Saturday evening and Sunday together. I'll get my plotting mind to work, and I'll have a dozen or so or hand for your approval—plans, ways to work this thing out."

"Today you said you wouldn't—couldn't, I mean, wait for me."

"My plans aren't going to have a lot to do with waiting. Here's one, I've just evolved. If Ann marries—or even if she doesn't, though we doubtably she will—why couldn't we marry and live on here and look after the old people and Mary-Frances together? Poor finances—all that. It wouldn't be ideal; but it would be better than a separation, better than waiting forever. Surely there's room enough. I could keep out from under foot—at least every one's foot—feet, but yours. We'd sneak away a lot and be alone together. I could build the fires in the mornings, get the wood up—save you in all sorts of ways. Sounds to me like a pretty grand, damnable plan."

"No," said Cecily. This great cold, draughty house for Barry in the winter time. No sun—no fresh air unless one froze while getting it. He was not strong, though he thought that he was. The work, the thousand petty annoyances, and Barry's uncertain—well, temperamental ways. The financial burden. The whole thing lost her. Dump the whole thing on Barry to keep up? "No."

"If you won't go with me, dear; if you persist in objecting to anything I may propose, it does get hopeless, doesn't it? I won't wait, year in and out. I can't. But there is nothing I won't do, aside from waiting, in order to marry you. I'll pocket my pride; come here and live; allow you to keep on working—"

"People," said Cecily, and went to stand alone near the fireplace, "can't be married feeling that way. You never like anything you pay too much for. You—one, I mean, of course, always feels sort of spiteful about it."

"Cecily, if you deliberately misinterpret everything I say—"

"Grand, looking grimmer than usual, followed by Rosalie, more flutter than usual, came into the room. Cecily, who had put a hand on the mantel and was resting her head on it, did not trouble to lift her head; she merely rolled it to one side and looked at them. It was a relief, just the same, when midway of the room and after Grand had said, 'Good evening, sir,' to Barry. Ann came out from behind Rosalie."

"May I ask," Grand went on, "why you are here at my home, at this hour, with my granddaughter Cecily?"

Barry did not do nearly so well as Phil had done. He did not fidget Grand's manner. He blushed. "We came in rather late, Mr. Fenwick. Cecily has suggested that I leave."

Cecily said, "You are only just coming in yourselves. Why shouldn't Barry be here? It is my home, too."

"Grand, Rosalie, and Ann all began, at the same instant, to say something. Rosalie went, 'Of course, it is your home,' she said, '

APPELLATE COURT MAKES DECISIONS IN MORGAN CASES

Affirm Hairgrove Judgment; Order Retrial Bergschneider Case

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 1.—Six cases involving the assets of defunct banks in central Illinois were decided by the third district appellate court, in opinions handed down today. The court held in favor of the receivers of the banks in each instance.

The court affirmed the decree of the circuit court of York county ordering that the $5,000 note claimed by Frances Loring and Harvey B. Clem be paid to the receiver of the Illinois State Bank to be listed as an asset of the bank.

In another case Anna O'Connor lost her claim of $4,500 worth of notes which she had purchased of the Urbana Banking company before it closed. The court held that she could not show that there had been an actual sale of the notes to her.

Reversing the circuit court's decision, the appellate bench ruled that Martha Mitchell Bates of Pana was merely a general creditor and not a preferred claimant of the defunct Seaboard State Bank of Pana. The case involved a deposit of $4,500.

The court also held that the receiver for defunct John B. Coleridge State Bank of Taylorville has the power to sell real estate known as the "Minnis farm" as part of the assets of the bank. The Milkin National Bank of Decatur and the First National Bank of Chicago contended that the receiver could not sell the property on the grounds that it was collateral for notes totaling $25,045 held by them.

Judgment of the Tazewell county circuit court ordering C. H. Boyer and C. J. Driever to pay $7,755 to the closed Henry Decker and Co. Bank of Washington, Illinois, was affirmed.

Order New Trial
A new trial was ordered in the case of T. E. Lyons, receiver of Arcadia State Bank against the estate of Ralph G. Ernst for $31,991 which is said to be owed the bank on notes. The Lyons county circuit court decided against the receiver.

An award of $12,500 made by the Adams county circuit court to Peter & Co., Chicago printers for catalogues work done for the Excelsior Store and Manufacturing company of Quincy, was sustained.

Affirming the Champaign county circuit court, the appellate bench refused damages sought by Mrs. Amanda Hendricks because of the death of her daughter who was drowned in the Urbana swimming pool two years ago. William Sullivan lost his breach of contract suit against the University of Illinois. The university purchased corn of Sullivan's tenant, who moved out without paying rent. Sullivan said that he had a verbal agreement with the university to make the check in payment of the corn out to him and the tenant jointly, so that he could collect the rent.

The court refused damages to Mrs. Blacaby who was injured at the annual turkey trot in Lewistown in 1929. She was pushed through a window during the scramble for the turkey and sued the city for permitting the "turkey trot" to be held on the city street.

Judgment of the McLean county circuit court ordering Louis Pomeroy to pay the Cornbelt State Bank $30,000 on three notes was affirmed.

A new trial was ordered in the case of Jane Chumard against the Parlor market. The Mason county circuit court awarded the woman $5,000 damages for injuries sustained in an automobile accident.

Affirming the judgment of the Morgan county circuit court, the appellate bench refused to award William N. Hairgrove of Jacksonville more than $250 for the fracture of a toe while riding on a Washburn train. Hairgrove contended that the award was inadequate.

A new trial of the controversy between Fred J. Bereschneider, Morgan county farmer, and Hal Brothers, implement dealers, was ordered by the court. The dispute centers around the payment for a combine.

An award of $1,000 ordered paid to William Copas of Vermilion county by the Missouri State Life Insurance company was affirmed. So was a judgment of $7,500 awarded by a Vermilion jury to Ada Smoot, Danville school teacher for injuries suffered while struck by a car driven by J. G. Hollinsworth. A new trial was granted Esther Bailey who was ordered by a Vermilion jury to pay James Robert $900 damages for injuries sustained when he was struck by her auto in Danville.

RULES FALSE TEETH PERSONAL PROPERTY

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 1.—A blow in the mouth which damages false teeth is not personal injury, but damage to personal property. Attorney General Oscar E. Brown said today in advising H. H. Cleveland, clerk of the state department, of public works and buildings that a claim of Lawrence Gillison for injury suffered July 15, 1931 was not compensable under the Workmen's Compensation act.

Mr. Carleton said the law provides that artificial teeth be supplied to replace any natural teeth lost by workmen by accident in the course of their employment. "However," he added, "in the present instance it was artificial teeth broken and not natural teeth and from the accident report it does not appear that any injury occurred to the person of the employee as a result of the accident on July 15."

"This being true, it is my opinion that neither this employee nor the doctor is entitled to recover for the repair of false teeth for the reason that it is a personal property damage, and not a damage to his person. Therefore it is not contemplated that the employee be reimbursed for the repair of said teeth under the workmen's compensation act of this state."

PETITIONS CIRCULATED FOR COMMITTEEMAN POST

Petitions are being circulated by Republicans in the 26th Congressional district to place the name of Andrew Russell of this city on the primary election ballot, as a Republican candidate for state central committeeman. Mr. Russell now holds that office.

FUNERALS

Charles S. Burdick
Funeral services in memory of Charles S. Burdick were conducted from the Arthur G. Coffey funeral home yesterday afternoon at two o'clock. Rev. P. A. Havichurst, pastor of the Grace M. E. church, and Rev. Charles H. Thrall, pastor of the Presbyterian M. E. church, were in charge of the services. Interment was made in Diamond Grove cemetery.

The floral offerings were in charge of Misses Frances and Elizabeth Hall and Mamie Thady and Mrs. Russell Scroggins.

The casket bearers were Elmer Hessel, John Phillips, C. L. Wilson, C. H. Swaby, E. H. Boyer, and E. J. Clark, all members of Harmon Lodge, A. P. A. M.

Services at the grave were in charge of Harmony Lodge, with the following in charge: Chairman, Ott Hamelner; W. Master, Chas. W. Carter; Marshall, S. J. Clark.

THOMAS MAGNER PASSES AWAY AT HOME LAST NIGHT

Jacksonville Man Had Resided Here More Than Half Century

Thomas William Magner, one of Jacksonville's most highly respected and oldest residents, passed away Monday evening at 6:30 o'clock at his residence, 534 North Duane street, where he had resided for more than fifty years.

During the many years of his life here he was active in all moves for the betterment of the city, maintaining a keen interest in civic affairs. He served as a member of the city council during the term of Mayor Willard, 1887-1893.

Mr. Magner was the son of John and Bridget Magner, who were born in Ireland. He was educated in the common schools of his native land. In 1864 he was united in marriage to Anna E. Rossiter. It was in that year that the Magner home was established on Prairie street and in 1882 it was the decedent's residence.

Mr. Magner is survived by his widow and five children: John and James of this city; Rose of Roadhouse; and Mary and Rose at home. One daughter, Teresa, passed away October 19, 1914, at two years of age. Sons: Mrs. Mary D. Flynn, Chicago; Miss Catherine Magner, Jacksonville; and one brother, James B. Magner, St. Paul, Minn.

Mr. Magner was a member of the Knights of Columbus of this city. Friends are requested to please omit flowers.

FRANK HEINL WILL GIVE CHAPEL TALK ON WASHINGTON

Frank J. Heinl of this city has been announced as the speaker for the Washington Memorial service of the Washington society of the city, February 5, which is to be given over the celebration of the two hundredth anniversary of George Washington's birth.

Mr. Heinl is known as an authority on American history and his remarks should prove valuable to the student body and local visitors. Dr. C. P. McClelland will preside during the program and in addition to the speech, will introduce some special music.

Other Washington events are being arranged by a faculty committee for the month of February.

Alexander

Alexander, Feb. 1.—The Woman's Foreign Missionary society of the Methodist church will conduct its business meeting for February on Thursday afternoon at two o'clock at the home of Mrs. P. W. Neil, Mrs. Antonio Lloyd will be the assistant hostess.

The altar society of the Church of God will meet Thursday afternoon at 7 o'clock at the home of Mrs. P. J. Kaiser, Jr., with Mrs. William Wallbaum, Mrs. Peter Wallbaum and Mrs. George Flynn as the hostesses.

W. J. Kumble, who has been spending the winter with his family in Pacific, California, has returned home and is now convalescing from the serious illness of his father, Joseph Kumble, W. J. and Fred Kumble resided on Alexander residents.

Mr. George Haynes and son, Byron, and Ed Stilton spent Sunday in Jacksonville visiting with their daughter and Mr. Bernice Haynes, who is attending high school there.

Bernice Trece of Springfield, spent Sunday visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hal Trece, of East of Alexander.

PATRIOTIC GROUPS PLAN NATIONAL DEFENSE MEET HERE

Organizations go on Record
Favoring Movement for Proper Armament

Representatives of several patriotic organizations met last night at the home of Mrs. H. W. English, 844 West College avenue, and plans for a national defense meeting to be held about the middle of this month, were made. The group also decided that an expression of the members' attitude was necessary and voted to record their actions with state and national bodies with which they are affiliated.

It was the consensus of those present that the United States should be put in a position to meet the clamorous expressions of pacifist disarmament enthusiasts, although they are ready for peace. It is expected that Edward A. Hayes, Decatur, former state commander of the American Legion will make the address at the defense meeting here which will be open to the public.

It was brought out at the meeting that the Legion has already declared that its state department and the national organization its stand for an adequate defense, and its members have provided for the presence of two municipal observers at the Geneva conference, who will speak for the veterans if the occasion presents itself.

Those present at Monday night's meeting decided to forward at once their state and national channels such declarations of a positive stand against pacifism and disarmament as will represent the local organizations. These groups represent millions of the manhood and womanhood of America, all of them pledged to national defense.

Organizations represented at last night's meeting and their representatives are: Francis Scott Key Chapter, U. S. D., 1812, Stonewall Chapter, U. S. D., Mrs. English, the local post of the American Legion; J. C. Mutch, Grant Hughes, L. T. Oxley; American Legion Auxiliary, Lexington Junior Auxiliary, United Spanish-American Veterans, W. J. Dwyer, commander; U. S. W. V. Auxiliary, Mrs. E. E. Henderson, president; Service Star Legion, Mrs. Frances Brown, past state president; Rev. James Caldwell Miller, D. A. R., Mrs. J. Marshall Miller, recent; Mrs. Herbert Capas, first vice; Mrs. James G. Hatcher, Circle, Decatur, of O. A. R. Mrs. J. T. Self, past president; Woman's Relief Corps, Mrs. Frank Ayer, U. S. Daughters of 1812, Mrs. S. W. Babb, treasurer, Mrs. Babb is also a member of the D. A. R., Mrs. English is recent of the local U. S. D., 1812 chapter, past state librarian of the D. A. R. and past state commander of the D. A. C. and Mrs. Capas is past recent of the local D. A. R. chapter.

Although Dr. M. L. Fontana was not present at the meeting it was reported that he joins the groups opposed to war but is for protective armament.

COMPOSITION OF BORDER TALKED
AT GARDEN MEET

Local Landscape Gardener
Tells Club About Flowers
Last Night

Mrs. Courtney Crouch Wright, local landscape gardener, gave an interesting talk as well as instructive last night at the February meeting of the Centennial Garden club held in the Public Library. Mrs. Wright chose as her subject "The Composition of the Perennial Border" drawing from her experience and study in gardening. In this regard to give many valuable suggestions upon gardening under the climatic conditions that exist in Jacksonville and vicinity.

In opening her talk she traced the origin of the perennial border from England where it grew up, and followed its gradual perfection of composition until the modern revival from studied composition. Color and texture are the characteristics that should be sought after, she pointed out.

Of these, color is the most easily obtained for people pay more attention to color than they do to texture. Texture in a garden is the surface, pattern of the leaves of the plants, and their relation to one another. Variety in texture is very desirable. Mrs. Wright stated, to avoid monotony.

Form or mass is gained through the correct placing of plants in relation to one another, taking into consideration the individual characteristics of each plant.

"But most of all," said Mrs. Wright, "The garden should be the frank expression of taste and personality. In the garden, the gardener considers the setting and the materials available. Make your garden the true expression of yourself, and your own desires."

Mrs. Wright illustrated her talk with charts, and read lists of plants that are suited to garden growth in this locality, giving special characteristics and colors.

The aim of the perennial border is to provide a succession of bloom from April till the frosts in late October. This is the aim of every gardener, and the focus of Mrs. Wright's attention in giving garden suggestions.

U. OF CALIFORNIA DEBATING TEAM HERE LAST NIGHT

The University of California debating team met Illinois College last night in the high school auditorium on the subject, "Resolved: That capitalism has been tried and found wanting." The California men were Ernest Wilson Grove, of Berkeley, California, and Herbert Resner of Los Angeles, both seniors. Charles McBratney of St. Louis, Mo., represented Illinois.

Professor H. J. Stratton introduced the speakers, who afforded the listeners an evening of considerable intellectual brightness. Their constructive speeches and rebuttals alike were held without being hostile.

The affirmative, upheld by California, advocated a social democracy in place of capitalism as the best means of affording full and free life to the individual. Capitalism, to quote Mr. Grove, is the "survival of the fittest" and the "rule of the few" rather than the golden rule. "The present business depression and the business cycle itself is an outgrowth of capitalism. Something is surely wrong with a system wherein ninety percent of the nation's wealth belongs to one percent of the people. The socialism which the gentlemen from the golden state set forth is not communism, bolshevism, or anarchism, but an end which shall be gained gradually through the medium of the ballot-box. It shall have a philosophy of society as a unit working for the mutual good, a definite program, and a predictable organization."

The negative defended the capitalist system as an institution made permanent by its spontaneous development down through the ages. It has the public's stamp of approval, for after all, there are few who actually want the abolition of capitalism. The unemployed want employment, not socialism. A sound capitalist system should be encouraged, not abolished, for it gives material reward to the most efficient. This system should be characterized by three features: the destruction of inheritance, the regulation of population to the capacity of an area to support its population, and the dissemination of ownership of industry.

There was no decision.

CITY PRIMARY ORDINANCE IS PASSED AT MEET

Other Routine Business is Conducted by Council
Last Night

The city council met in regular session last night and passed, with the emergency clause, the primary election ordinance. The election is called for March 8, and the polls will be open from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. The council also voted to pay the regular monthly claims against the city.

Mayor J. J. Reeve suggested that wheel taxes must be paid by March 1. The city clerk reported wheel tax collections during January amounting to $658, and other collections of $671.98. The wheel department reported total collections of $6,910.55 of which $6,890.35 was for water sold.

The police department reported 28 arrests, with 18 city cases and collections in fines and costs of $221.60. Russell DeWitt headed a delegation to the council from Goitra avenue and asked that something be done to improve the drainage on that dirt street, so as to clear up the bad mud holes at each end of the street. The council promised some immediate relief.

Plan for obtaining crushed rock to fill in bad places in city streets was discussed, but no action was taken. The city clerk presented the annual report of the health department, which was placed on file. It shows 231 deaths for the city of Jacksonville and 327 births during 1931.

The budget for the first month of 1932 was presented to the council. Only one fund, the water department capital account, shows an excess of expenditures, and the amount in this case is only one cent. The budget report follows.
